SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD
BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.—Acts 4:20.

Nearly everybody knew the farm depicted last week was the Dubard property. Mrs. Lewis Dubard, Jr. came in Friday and claimed the photograph. The editor, who has known this property for over 60 years, was mighty glad to give it a pretty good write-up, also a pretty good write-up for the Dubards who have been his friends for a lifetime.

The previewer, Bob Sartwell, was in this morning to preview the picture shown on this page. Bob says the farm is 'somewhere about Oxberry' but has not named it.

The back page is going to look odd this week without the Grenada Theatre, Oliver-Lilly nad Rogers Bell ads. We promised those folks space on the back page, provided it is possible to have any space there. But it is very obvious that, when you already have a full page, you can not find any more room. Jintney-Jungle has the whole back page for an indefinite period, hence other ads will be found on the editorial or society pages.

One of our favorite young matrons, Susan Proby Grimes, and Susan's little daughter came in to visit the GCW Tuesday morning.

William Beckett of Bruce was monkeying around Grenada Wednesday in the interest of Jim Eastland.

If we aint already welcomed Miss Delmas Eidson of our Memphis bundle of papers, we do so now.

Whyte Jr. advertised for some free cats last week and was offered many cats, but he has decided to accept some real Oxberry cats from Coot Little's wife. Thanks to others.

Julia Talbert was kind enough to give Mabel for me a nice mess of garden-fresh vegetables last week, cabbage, etc.

Growing Green aint got much more room to grow, as the Semmes-Winter law office building has used all but five feet, which is currently used for an alley for Dyre-Kent, not occupied by some sort of structure. To Growing Green, the GCW and other neighbors welcome the 2 Billies: Billy Semmes and Billy Winter.

But, boys, it is against the established rule to go broke on Green Street, so be careful.

I imagine there are exceptions to the old rule about going broke on Green Street, but I personally know of no exceptions. Once a street almost preemptied by Negroes, Green Street today has but one Negro owner of property, Dr. L. L. Rayford. Horton & Horton and Fred Griffin gave, in recent years, Green Street its greatest boosts. They and Roy Doak today own much of the Green Street business property.

Lester Parham, acting for High Pockets, caught our car Tuesday morning. I went over to pay off Uncle Joe, but found that he was on vacation.

Sonny Hubbard and a yankee school mate, Lennie Pirani, of the University of Indiana, were home last week giving the girls a treat.

In this issue particularly, my mind reverts to the elder Mr. William Dubard. Among other wise things I recall him saying was this: that the man who occupied the safest place in a changing world was the man who could do useful things with his hands.

It appears from the maneuvering I see that, if there is to be a bond issue to finance the new industry, the bond issue will cover all property in Beat One, and not be confined to the property only in the City of Grenada, as other such bond issues were. However, I dont yet know too much about the industry as I have not been out to talk to Cap Oliver yet.

I see a new Negro school being erected near Holcomb, also another one south of Oakland. The school authorities dont seem to be giving much heed to the much-publicized decision of the U. S. Supreme Court banning segregation in the public schools.

J. S. Throop, Jr. Announces For State Senator

John S. Throop, Jr., Attorney of Water Valley, has announced as a candidate for election to the office of Senator, representing the twenty-eighth senatorial district of Mississippi composing the counties of Yalobusha and Grenada.

Governor Hugh White last week called a special election to be held on July 13, 1954 for the purpose of filling the vacancy now existing in this office, and the successful candidate will complete the unexpired term ending on January 1, 1955.

Mr. Throop was born in Water Valley and has lived there all of his life. He is a veteran of World War II and the Korean War, serving in ranks from Private through Major. He was graduated from Davidson College in 1940 and the University of Mississippi Law School in 1947. He has engaged in the general practice of law in Water Valley since 1947.

Mr. Throop has served two consecutive terms as President of the Water Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce; is a member and Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Water Valley Schools; is Chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis District No. 2 of Mississippi, composing five counties in North Mississippi; is a member of the Board of Deacons of the First Presbyterian Church of Water Valley; and he was named Water Valley's Outstanding Young Man Of The Year in 1948.

Hot Weather and Polio

Two Grenada County children, one white and one colored were stricken with what was supposed to be Polio or meningitis on Saturday, June 12 and obth have been sent to nearby hospitals for observation and diagnosis.

Little 5 year old James Coats, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Coats was taken by his parents to Le Bonheur Hospital in Memphis.

2 year old Negro girl, Rose Helen Colley, whose parents live on the E. L. Wilkins plantation in Beat 5 was taken to Greenwood Leflore Hospital through the assistance of the local Polio Chapter. Dr. Hunt was the attending physician for the Colley child.

On Wednesday of this week, a diagnosis had not been stated.

—Cotton Acreage Being Measured—
(By W. M. Tramel)

An estimate of 5,487.8 acres of cotton have been measured up to Friday, June 11th of the allocated 15,708.4 acreage for Grenada County. The crews are expected to complete this survey by June 30, and farmers should receive their notice of measured acreage no later than the 2nd week in July.

Based on acreage measured farmers are planting full allotment, some are planting ½ acre to 1½ acre over. This is considered good, as it will help the county in case there is an allotment on cotton in 1955.

I dont remember having mentioned Archie Dunn's having paid his Holcomb subscription recently, but he did pay it and he got his name on the cash book.

Somebody asked Ben Sanders if he was going to be a candidate for supervisor next year. He replied that he aint never quit running and he is like Byron Hunter in that respect - running all the time.

Letter From Fish & Game Commission on Crappie

Dear Mr. Evans:

Reply is made to your request that the Commission stock crappie in Grenada Reservoir.

'First, let me say that it is good to see your club interested in obtaining measures to improve and perpetuate the fishing in this reservoir. I assure you that we will offer our utmost cooperation with your organization and the citizens of your area to provide the best fishing possible from this lake.

Now, in reply to your specific question, in the past the Commission has found it not necessary to introduce crappie species on the other three flood control projects in North Mississippi; therefore prior to making a commitment, I would like to see what the proposed population studies we have scheduled for Grenada this year indicate. If, after having completed our population studies we find the crappie population to be below normal, we will attempt to move crappie from some other area of the state into Grenada Reservoir.

As you perhaps know, we introduced approximately 70,000 [illegible] bream in Grenada recently and plan to release 100,000 more into the area in the very near future.

Thank you for your letter and you can be assured that we [illegible] to cooperate with you [illegible]

[illegible]

Sincerely yours,

[illegible]

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Scripture: Hosea 4:6—7:16. Devotional Reading: Hosea 11:1-4ab; 14:1-4.

What God Wants

Lesson for June 20, 1954

WHAT does God want? It is the most important question anyone can ask. There are religions that answer in one word: Nothing. He goes his serene way uncaring what we do. But the Christian religion, and the Jewish religion before us, believe that the prophets of the Bible were true prophets. They did really know the mind of God. And those prophets one and all—and for that matter every writer of every part of the Bible—teach that God does care, he does want something of us.

Dr. Foreman

A Great Word

The prophet Hosea preached in a very "religious" era. At least, that is what his fellow citizens may have thought. There were temples crowded with worshippers, there were treasuries piled high with tithes and offerings. The smoke of burning animals consumed as sacrifices to the Most High God could be seen rising above every important city, especially in Jerusalem and Bethel, "religious capitals" of the little countries of Judah and Israel. What the contemporaries of Hosea thought God wanted was public worship, rites and ceremonies, attendance at the temple, plenty of animals for sacrifice. Hosea knew better. In memorably simple words he says, speaking for God, "I desire . . ." At this point our English translators of the Hebrew Old Testament—it should never be forgotten that no part of the original Bible was written in English—our translators run into trouble. The Hebrew word Hosea used at this point is "chesed" (pronounced rather like "hesseth") and it is interesting to see how many different words are used in our English Bibles to translate this one Hebrew word. It is called "goodness" (as in Psalm 33:5, Hosea 6:4); "kindness" (as in Gen. 20:13; Neh. 9:17); "pity" in Job 6:14; "mercy" (as in Ps. 100:5 and Hosea 4:1); "loving kindness (as in Psalm 103:4; Hosea 2:19). All these are in the old King James Bible. More recent translators have used still other words. Every student of the Hebrew Bible knows that we have here one of those great words that is bigger than any word used to translate or explain it. The translators of the Revised Standard Version have used for the most part the expression "steadfast love" to express the deep meaning of this word.

What God Wants Most

Hosea told his people, and he tells us, that what God wants most of all is this great thing which is more than mercy, more than kindness, something that can best be expressed in the two words "steadfast love." Not sacrifice and burnt offerings, as it used to be thought; not anything else we can think of. Just steadfast love. Then Hosea puts with this and beside it something else: "the knowledge of God." This does not mean theology out of a book. The Hebrew word for "knowledge" never meant simply information about facts. A person could memorize all the facts about a President of the United States and still not really know him. Knowledge in the Bible sense of that word is a deeper thing, it is to enter intimately into the understanding of a person, to know him as it were from within. God wants of us today, as he did and does always, more than anything else, that our lives may show "steadfast love" which reflects his own.

Nothing Else Will Do

We hear a lot in America about "Back to Religion" or "Back to Church," but a good deal of this comes from people who have a kind of vague idea that if the churches were only full every Sunday God would reward our fine record of church attendance with bumper crops and prosperity in general. Hosea would smile a sad smile at such an idea. It was exactly the kind of idea his wrong-headed people had. It was not that God did not want sacrifices at all; but they were no substitute for what God really desired most of all. So with us. Church-going, occasional bursts of reform, "cracking down" on gamblers now and then, more beautiful worship services, bigger and handsomer churches—none of this can be America's substitute, or Americans' substitute, for steadfast love and the knowledge of God. He wants it. Do we?

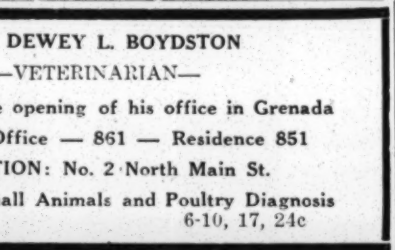
the MODERN MRS. wants the best!



And why not? Because the best is usually the most economical, too. Take modern electric cooking, for example. It's not only cleaner, more healthful, more convenient and more efficient . . . it's also more economical. All the heat goes directly into the cooking vessel . . . walls, draperies and utensils stay cleaner longer . . . and there's less shrinkage of expensive meats. Yes, it pays to be modern. Grand Old Man Of The Dubard Family

This is the grand old man, Mr. William M. Dubard who was the assembler and conservator of the Dubard property, a story of which is on this page. He was born November 8, 1847 in the Sweet Home Community of what later became Grenada County. The cut of Mr. Dubarn shown above was that the GCW used in a write-up of his 96th anniversary, celebrated in Grenada, November 12, 1942.

The concluding paragraph in Mr. Dubard's memoirs, dictated to William Lomax, his grandson, in 1943 was as follows:

'So, for almost a century I have lived here in Grenada County, Mississippi, as a boy, farmer and businessman, and as an onlooker and spectator of the scene of life. I have observed an interesting period and must confess I would like to have an opportunity to see the New World which is generally anticipated after the present (World War II) war. May it bring a greater degree of love, hope and kindness to the masses of the world.'

"SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD BY THE EDITOR"

This young fellow Bush from Holly Springs who is running for Chancellor of this district was around Friday. He had nothing but good words for his opponent,, Judge Herbert Holmes, but he did remind me that, should Judge Holmes be reelected, the judge would be 80 before the next term expired.

Andrew and I took a grand tour of Enid Lake beginning at daylight Friday morning. Incidentally we caught 15 small bass, about half a bass per mile of boat travel.

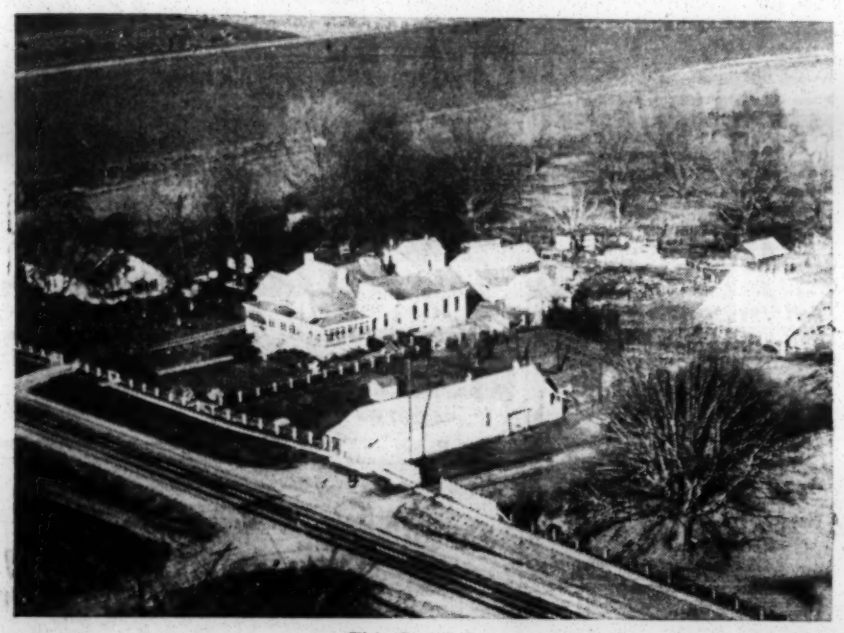
"Farm of the Week" Last Week



—This Series Sponsored by Jitney-Jungle, Grenada.

The beautiful pastoral scene shown above is the L. A. Dubard part of the Dubard property, located about 7 miles west of Grenada on Highways 7 and 8. Not shown but to the right of the big store is the W. V. Dubard part of that property.

The scene above is just about in the center of the 'home place' of the late Mr. William M. Dubard. Up a short distance in the hills south of the scene shown above is the site of the Dubard old home where all of the many members of the 2nd generation of this Dubard family were born: Vassar and Lewis Dubard, the 2 sons; and 4 daughters, Mesdames Lomax, Hinds, Anderson, and Allen. The elder Mr. Dubard, at the age of 96, died in 1944, leaving each of his children a nice piece of land. The east part of the 'home place' was inherited by Vassar Dubard. At the present time, it is leased to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boyd from Itta Bena. The central part was inherited by Mr Lewis Dubard. Presently it is operated by him and his only son, Lewis Jr. The western part of the home place was inherited by a daughter, Mrs B. J. Anderson.

The evolutions which have taken place on the Dubard lands is typical of the evolutions that have taken place in the entire cotton South during the past generation. Twenty years ago, the Dubards had 26 tenant houses at Dubard, all filled with tenants. All power then was mule-power. Today, there are no mules. The few remaining tenant houses are occupied by tractor drivers, of whom 'little Lewis' seems to be the best. Instead of having cotton, corn, sorghum, peas and sweet potatoes, there are many acres devoted to pastures, on which substantial herds of cattle graze.

Described another way, the home place runs east and west along the highway for over two miles; and from the Yalobusha River back into the hills from 2 to 3 miles. Included in the tract are not only the site of the old home of the elder Mr. Dubard, but not the site of the home of this Mr. Dubard's father, which was located about half a mile distance near Spring Hill Church. The 'home place' contains about 1900 acres, both level and hilly land.

Whatever the Dubards got in land, the Dubards have kept, and have made a lifetime practice of maintaining it, as if they are custodians for future generations, and not owners to do what they will with it.

In going from Grenada to Greenwood on No. 7 Highway, one travels about 5 miles thru Dubard land, not only in Grenada County, but in Carroll County now owned by two of the daughters of the W. M. Dubard family: Mesdames Lomax and Allen. Mrs. Hinds owns the Oxberry place.

Whenever one finds a Dubard, one is most likely to find one who holds on to his or her land, one who HAS some sort of musical talent and teaches the children of THAT family about music, and one who is educated and who educates his or her children and grand children, one who is a church-goer and one who is honest, straight-forward and reliable. These characteristics are, in the opinion of this writer, some of the intangibles in the patrimony of the elder Mr. William M. Dubard and his wife, a Miss Anna Beard.

It is a great pity that the GCW does not have room for 'A Century of Reminiscences' by William M. Dubard, as related to his grandson, William A. Lomax, a story of early days in and near Grenada County's Spring Hill Community, home of such folks as the Dubards, the Nasons and the Heaths.

Sit back, relax and let your automatic GAS range do the work this summer.
You'll have a COOLER KITCHEN with a new automatic Gas range
HERE'S WHY!
Fully insulated ovens in modern gas ranges keep heat inside where it gives even baking results. And Gas lets you keep the broiler shut! — so heat is always in your broiler — not in your kitchen.
Instant on, instant off automatically, at the turn of a knob. Gas goes to work in a second without long warm-up time and gas burners don't throw waste heat after you are through cooking.
Gas broiling is smokeless. Test for yourself by holding a match over a lighted cigarette. See how the flame eats up every wisp of smoke. That's the way gas consumes any smoke from broiling. And a gas range costs less to buy, less to install and less to use!

CHICKEN AND RICE SALAD

Miss Mary McMeekin, Chief Food Economist with Rice Consumer Service, sent the recipe which is being featured in today's column.

This recipe should appeal to homemakers who need to stretch the food budget and to homemakers who like to cook with cold—the cold of your electric refrigerator.

There is more to this salad than meets the eye. Underneath the snow white surface of this "Chicken and Rice Salad" is goodness that will bring an exclamation of "THIS IS WONDERFUL" to the lips of all who taste it.

Mold the salad in an interesting shape if you wish, or let it congeal in a square or oblong pan. Serve it on a bed of greens, or garnish it with a product of your imagination.

What is important is to experience the flavor of this marvelous tasting "Chicken and Rice Salad" which won a first place award in the rice and meat division of the Creole Rice Cookery Contest at the 1951 International Rice Festival.

INGREDIENTS

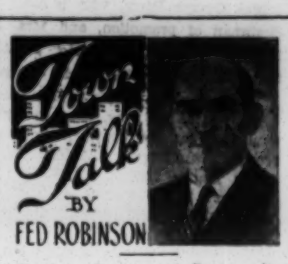
1-½ cups diced boiled chicken
1 cup cold boiled rice
3/4 cups chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers
1 tablespoon chopped sour pickle
6 chopped stuffed olives
12 pecan halves chopped
½ tablespoon chopped parsley
2 ½ cups mayonnaise
2 ½ cups whipped cream
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 cups cold water
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of black pepper and red pepper
Dash of paprika

PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice: put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt in a two-quart saucepan and cover with a tight-fitting lid. Bring to a vigorous boil and then turn the heat as low as possible—leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn off the heat. This cooking time results in firm grains of cooked rice. (For extra tender grains, allow the rice to steam (with heat off) an additional 5 minutes before removing the lid.)

Never remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. After rice is cooked, remove lid, lift rice gently with fork to allow rice to steam dry to the desired consistency. It is then ready—perfectly cooked and the grains will be separate and fluffy. This method allows all the water to be absorbed and the full nutritional value of the rice to be retained.

Keep left-over cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container at all times. You will find it convenient for making many quick, easy and delicious dishes.

METHOD: Combine chicken, rice, celery, green pepper, sour pickle, olives, pecans and parsley. Add mayonnaise and whipped cream. Add the gelatin which has softened in cold water for 5 minutes and has been melted over hot water. Cool. Add the salt, pepper and paprika. Mix all the ingredients well and chill in a mold or pan.



Town Talk

BY FED ROBINSON

Sunday afternoon at five . . is a GOOD time to be alive . . Like the 'rest' period in music all is quiet . . but tomorrow comes the 'crescendo' building up the fight. Yes, on Sunday afternoon at five one might write down little things that would not seem appropriate at all when read next Friday at noon, but its a favorite time for me and wish some of you who read this piece would find your pencil and write to tell us What Do You Usually Do On Sunday Afernoons Aroud Five O'Clock? Your letters are the total compensation for this little stint, and are so greatly appreciated.

Our Sunday school department has added a new and interesting feature to the assembly program. We now ask those who will to stand right up and tell the group of the things they saw, heard, or read during the week that Made Them Glad They Were Christians. We think this idea will grow into a strong reminder that we should LOOK for the RESULTS of Christianity in the lives of people as we go about our work during the week. One man reported last Sunday that he witnessed christianity in action when in a gathering of business men - after work hours at a meeting - they were passing around the whiskey when one man said proudly 'No, thank you' and one asked if he thought alcohol hurt his health, and the man said 'No, it hurts my conscience because I'm a Christian' .. Well, you can never tell. This one man refusing that drink may well cause one or more of the others to stop drinking. The Christophers, headed up by Father James Keller of New York, teaches a lot of truth about the value of ONE MAN'S OPINION provided he will DO SOMETHING about it.

A neighbor of ours has just shown me a new gadget he rigged up on his garage door by the use of which he can open the door while sitting in his car twenty feet away by some kind of radio waves. Well, it really is very wonderful for us to have all these things to make our daily lives easier and interesting and none of us would want to go back to the old days when the man of the house hollered loudly for his wife to come forward out of the kitchen and open the barn yard gate when he returned from town with the feed, clothing and groceries. We cannot say this about any individual, but it is a fact that the average person is NOT living as happily these days as they did 30 to 40 years ago when we had more work to do with our own hands. Housewives, dont you start throwing things at me please, but figure it out for yourself and you will agree won't you, that real happiness in the home is NOT dependent upon the gadgets we use to do the work, but rather happiness comes from relationships and attitudes we enjoy with those we love. You can't clean a wicked conscience with a vacuum cleaner and dump the contents into the ash can and be rid of the results forever. Nor can you heal a wife's or widow's broken heart with any kind of band-aid tape that sticks under water. Takes a lot more than gadgets to properly equip a home for everyday living. And that line is written for the June brides coming on this month who just MAY not know these things.

Plans for the first statewide 4-H Junior Leadership Training Conference are laid by members of the state 4-H staff. From left to right, they are: M. A. Rowzee, Miss Ingrid Tierese, Miss Blanche Goad, State 4-H Club Leader C. I. Smith, and C. M. Chafee. The training conference, part of a program sponsored by United Gas, will take place at State College June 22-25.

PLANS CRYSTALIZE FOR FIRST STATEWIDE 4-H JUNIOR LEADER TRAINING CONFERENCE

STATE COLLEGE, MISS.—The first state-wide 4-H Club junior leadership training conference will be held at Mississippi State College June 22-25, and will stress the theme "Developing Leaders Through 4-H."

Leadership conferences, sponsored since 1948 by United Gas Pipe Line Company, have in the past been held on a district basis, with South Mississippi boys and girls attending one conference and North Mississippi 4-H'ers attending a separate conference.

In order to strengthen the training program, only one conference will be held this year, according to C. I. Smith, state 4-H Club leader. It will bring together boys and girls of outstanding leadership ability from throughout Mississippi. Various topflight speakers are scheduled for the event.

328 4-H'ers Can Attend

Two boy and two girl delegates from each county in Mississippi are eligible to attend the conference which is designed to strengthen leadership qualities in 4-H boys and girls through an intensified training program, Mr. Smith said. Such training qualifies delegates to better fulfill one of the prime duties of a 4-H leader—that of assisting other boys and girls with their various projects.

Training in 4-H leadership and other projects at the leadership training conference also helps these boys and girls to assume positions of leadership in their respective communities as they reach more mature ages

Nation Needs Leaders

The 4-H Club Junior Leadership Training Program and Contest is founded on the belief that a successful leader among youth will be a successful leader among adults when he grows older. The entire project revolves around the need for accomplished leaders in the community, the state and the nation.

Training at the conference will be offered in 10 divisions of leadership in addition to subject matter instruction in various 4-H Club projects.

Workshops will be conducted on "Planning your 4-H work, and working your 4-H plan; The 4-H yearbook; The job of 4-H leaders; Demonstrations the 4-H way; Be a 4-H judge by judging; Exhibits; The 4-H Show Window; Special 4-H Activities; 4-H Camps for study and play; 4-H achievement records; and 4-H Club work and the public."

United Gas Sponsors

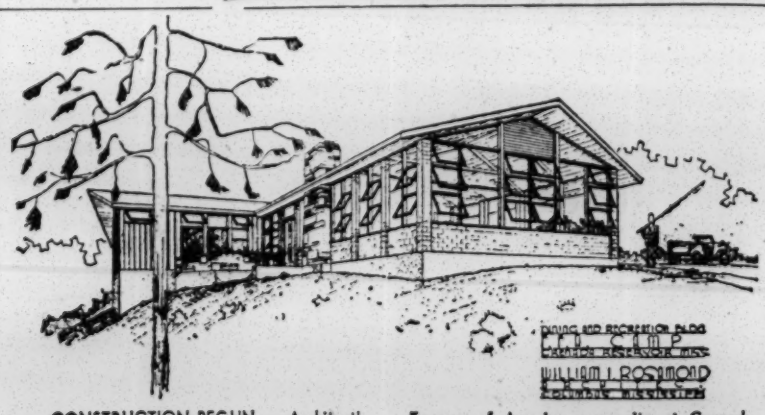
The 4-H Junior Leadership Training Program and Contest is administered by the Mississippi Agricultural Extension Service at State College. Sponsorship for this program in Mississippi has been provided for seven consecutive years by the United Gas Companies—United Gas Corporation, United Gas Pipe Line Company and Union Producing Company.

Some of the highest honors in 4-H [illegible] are made possible by [illegible] and are attainable under [illegible] of this forward [illegible] program. Among these are the opportunities to represent Mississippi 4-H Junior Leaders at the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C., awarded to two boys and two girls each year and the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, awarded to one boy and one girl annually. Winners of the prized Washington trip awards for 1954, just announced, are Mary Will McKenzie of Raymond, Gordon White of Bailey, Wynema McGrew of Seminary, and Lamar Hussey of Tupelo. Each of these delegates has an outstanding record in subject matter projects as well as in leadership. They will be accompanied to Washington by Miss Ingrid Tierese and C. M. Chafee of the State 4-H Club department.

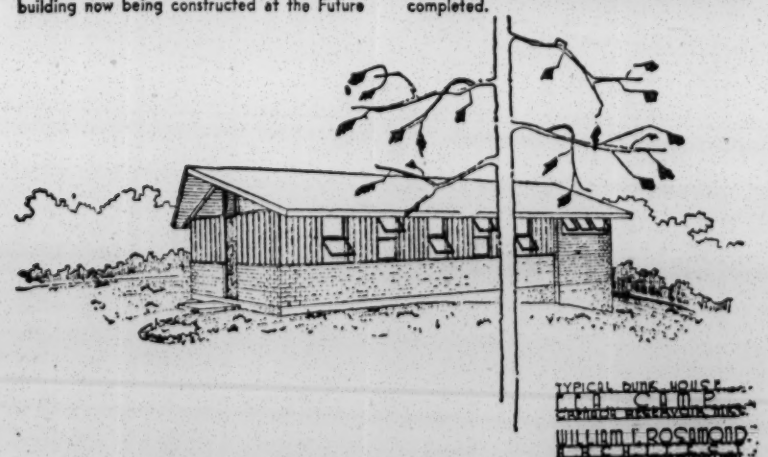
How Leadership Project Works

How well a club member does in his subject matter projects, his leadership ability, appearance, poise, offices held in local 4-H Clubs and county and state 4-H councils determine the rating he will be given in the 4-H leadership project.

To be a winner in the 4-H Junior Leadership project, a club member must be a bonafide member of a standard 4-H Club; must be enrolled in the 4-H Junior Leadership project; must have carried one or more production or conservation projects; must be over 14 and under 21 years of age; must submit a report on 4-H leadership activities on the 4-H Junior Leadership record; and must submit a standard report form indicating total achievements in 4-H Club work.



CONSTRUCTION BEGUN — Architect's drawing shows how the dining and recreation building now being constructed at the Future Farmers of America camp site at Grenada Reservoir in North Mississippi will look when completed.

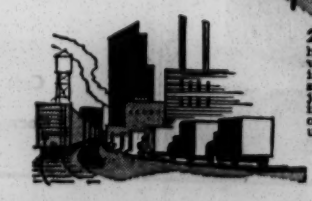


BUNK HOUSE—Here's how each of the two bunk houses will look at the FFA camp. ch will house 24 boys. Completion of the $50,000 project is scheduled early this spring. An access road, swimming beach and deep well have already been completed.

It's true...

FARMING AND BREWING are among the world's most ancient occupations. Both have always been a part of man's life — producing items of diet enjoyed from early Egyptian times and Biblical days down through the Greek and Roman era to modern times.

BREWING ranks thirteenth among all American industries in the value added by its processing of farm products and raw materials supplied from all 48 states.



2 OUT OF 3 AMERICAN homes serve beer today, survey records show. For beer is the kind of moderate, sensible beverage Americans enjoy as a part of pleasant living. Nowadays a great part of all beer is sold for home use.

IT'S TRUE that beer carries a higher tax load in Mississippi than it does in any other state in the nation. Largely through increasing public acceptance of legally regulated beer as the beverage of moderation — beer has grown to be the fifth largest taxpayer in the Magnolia State.

Miscellaneous Notes About Dubards

Anent the recent publication of the picture of the Dubard farm headquarters, I am reminded what an extremely fine family the Dubard family is. In a family so large, it is extremely unusual that there are so few 'black sheep' in the family, if, indeed, there are any such.

One of the fine cardinal traits of the family is that the Dubards 'stick together'. They glory in the other's achievements, and sorrow with in the other's defeats.

The head of this branch of the family was the late Mr. William M. Dubard. It was he who got together enough farm land that, a person traveling between Grenada and Greenwood, passed thru Dubard lands for at least four miles.

I may be in slight error, but, according to my knowledge, every acre of the many acres, Mr. William Dubard ever owned, is STILL owned by one of his many heirs.

The government got about 200 acres from the Dubards during the war for use as an auxiliary air field, but the Dubards bought it back.

Back about 1906, the Peavine railroad got a right-of-way thru the Dubard lands for about 4 or 5 miles but, as I remember, Mr. Dubard put into the deed that, should land cease to be used as a right-of-way, title would revert to him or his heirs. Anyway, the Dubards got back that land and own it again. By and large, what Mr. Dubard got, Mr. Dubard kept.

There are few if any exceptions to the rule that ALL Dubards, children, grand children and great grand children received or are receiving college educations. Most Dubards either sing or play musical instruments. One time at the Methodist Church in Grenada there was an exceptionally good all-Dubard musical entertainment.

There just aint any better folks anywhere than members of the Dubard family of Grenada County.

Among other of the William Dubard land was a small place at Oxberry. Mr. Dubard had such 'good hands' there that he often referred to it as his 'best' place. It has not been sold, but is now owned by one of his daughters, but leased to Coot Little. Though it contains over 200 acres, it was a 'small' place to Mr. Dubard.

Reminiscing about the Dubards makes me recall that, right after papa, mama and I moved to town and I started to school here, Lewis Dubard and Hurd Horton put me into a dry well on the school grounds, but I have forgiven them as they, like myself are old now.

SEEN, HEARD & TOLD BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.—Acts 4:20.

Robert Caruthers, our new San Francisco subscriber, wrote that the GCW was a big help to him, so that he could find out whether Sam and Bertha were dead or alive; that they NEVER write him. I hasten to say that both Sam and Bertha are very much alive. I hope Robert has not taken up with those gdrepublicans in California, like a few folks in Mississippi did in 1952.

Those gd republicans certainly have a thorn in their side in the person of Joe McCarthy. They first wanted Joe to help(?) them, now they are getting awful gunshy of Joe and would like to swap Joe off to the Democrats, but we dont want Joe.

I still think the smartest, most suave dude in those hearings is the urbane Mr. Welch of Boston. Cohn, also, is a mighty smart dude.

Joe and his hearings have certainly diverted attention from momentous world events to how many passes Pvt. Schine got from Fort Monmouth.

A Fast Growing Business in Mississippi

MOST OF MISSISSIPPI'S businesses are growing fast, but few, if any, can boast a faster rate of growth than the telephone business. It seems that Mississippians everywhere are depending more and more on the telephone to get things done... more of them are using the telephone in many more ways.

One big reason is value... A few cents still buys a telephone call. The cost of service has gone up far less than most things.

But everything needed to provide telephone service has increased in cost: Rents, wages, materials, taxes... Facilities to provide a new telephone here in Mississippi cost $180 in 1946; cost approximately $567 last year.

We must keep expanding and improving telephone service and we must get the money for this from investors. So, we must earn a fair profit on money invested in telephone property.

It happens every day. Customers read the ads... use the telephone to save time and money.

He's Ten Years Younger Today!

Here's a man who has just taken ten years off his age—insofar as his spirits and mental outlook are concerned.

He's going for his first ride in his first Cadillac—and he's a happy, happy man—with his hopes in the sky and his heart singing a song it hasn't recalled for a decade.

He's having an experience which we can't tell you about. You have to live it yourself—at the wheel of that first Cadillac—in order to evaluate it.

You know how it goes. You work and you worry and plan and hope. The years go by—and, bit by bit, you get things done. The insurance creeps up where you want it—the mortgage on the home goes into the fire—there's that nest-egg against the future and the college fund is in the bank.

And then, one day, you feel there's no further need for resisting—so you order the Cadillac—and wait for the happy news—"It's here!"

Your ride home will live in your memory forever. You've put the cap sheaf on your world of dreams.

Of course, this great sense of personal well-being is only the first thrill that comes with your Cadillac.

There's its magnificent performance—its marvelous balance and roadability—and its rare comfort and safety and handling ease. Every hour at the wheel is a privilege—and every journey is a wonderful memory.

Is the time about right for you to step up to a Cadillac?

If so—please come in and see us. The longer we're in business, the happier we are when we deliver a man his first Cadillac.

We'll be waiting to welcome you—anytime.

PAMPER POP

WITH THESE Dad's Day SPECIALS

No matter what Dad receives as a gift on Father's Day, the day will not be complete without an extra special meal to set before him. Here are a few of the many Father's Day specials that Jitney-Jungle is featuring to help you "Pamper Pop."

FATHER

A father is a thing that is forced to endure childbirth without an anesthetic.

A father is a thing that growls when it feels good and laughs loud when he's scared.

A father never feels worthy of the worship in a child's eyes. He's never quite the hero his daughter thinks, never quite the man his son believes him to be, and this worries him, sometimes. So he works too hard to try and smooth the rough places for those of his own who will follow him.

A father is a thing that gets very angry when the first school grades aren's as good as he thinks they should be. He scolds his son, tho he knows it's the teacher's fault.

Fathers are what give daughters away to other men who aren's nearly good enough, so they can have grandchildren who are smarter than anybody's.

Fathers make bets with insurance companies about who will live the longest. One day they lose and the bet's paid off to the part of them they leave behind.

I don't know where father goes when he dies. But I've an idea after a good rest, wherever it is, he won't just sit on a cloud and wait for the girl he's loved and the children she bore. He'll be busy there, too, repairing the stairs, oiling the gate, improving the streets, smoothing the way. — PAUL HARVEY. 15
